

Vice President

Rose Bataille Jean

Born in Haiti, Rose Bataille Jean moved to the United States as a very young age with her parents and five brothers and sister to escape political persecution. She grew up in the small town of Felicity, Ohio where she received all her classic education. Rose attended and graduated college from Wilmington College located in Wilmington, Ohio with BA in Psychology and Social Work. After working as a personal trainer in many US cities Rose returned to her home country to aide in the aftermath of the 2010 earthquake that devastated the country. Rose soon met David Jean and the two were married in November of 2011. She currently lives in the small town of Fondfred, a "suburb" of Les Cayes with her husband and two children. She is the Administrator for her family founded school for students from Pre-school to the Sixth Grade. She and her husband also work with the youth and women in the community to work towards a better quality of life.
